To whom it may concern,

I wish to object to the proposed changes to the Electricity Safety (Registration and Licensing) Regulations 2020 with respect to professional training for electrical supervisors.

I hold a Victorian A class licence and a NSW Electrical Supervisors Certificate. I was also an SECV electrical inspector for 5 years.

My business is focused on project management and electrical compliance, so part of my job is to ensure I'm up to date with any relevant Australian or ESV standard.

It is the responsibility for an electrician to maintain their knowledge base so their work is conducted in a safe and compliant manner.

Increase the fines for noncompliance or undertaking work in an unsafe manor. Also ensure there are more spot checks by electrical inspectors.

Regards
